Diamond Spectacles.

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and are called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazillian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heated rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic abberations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.

Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Comp New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & CO., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. CANARIES.

A CORRESPONDENT OF THE PROVIDENCE JOURNAL GIVES DIRECTIONS FOR THEIR CARE AND ARGUES THAT THEY MOVE THAN PAY THEIR EXPENSES.

It is as a matter of relief from other things that we write about birds, this morning. A great many families keep canary birds. Wherever we find one of these sweet little songsters, we feel sure that love and brightness are there. It seem to us that those persons who do not love birds, flowers, music and children do not really love anything. But we were going to write about the care of "canary birds," and because so many homes are made brighter by these sweet singers, the owners of them will at once be attracted by anything that is said about them.

First, then, we are lovers of these little pets, and have read and learned something about them. Every one will admit that when a person interests himself in such a thing from love, he will seek to know how to treat them. Do not start, then, when we say they require very little care, and are the least expensive and least troublesome of any luxury we have. The first cost of one is the heaviest expense. Three dollars, at most four, and a dollar for a cage, will set one up in house-keeping, to furnish trills, roulades, whistles and music of the sweetest kind for ten or eleven months in the year. We have six canaries, one of which we bought a few weeks ago of Fenner, on Broad street, (we have no stock in that concern; they are strangers to us), for which we paid four dollars, and for a prolonged song and sweet notes we have never heard him surpassed. He is a small, mealy colored bird, but he can do more towards waking the household in a cheerful mood in the morning, and in driving off the blues, than all the drug stores or saloons in the land. The ring of five silver dollars, yes twice five, is discord compared with the music that comes from that little fellow's throat every day. The wonder is, how such a little music box can send forth such a volume of sweet sound. But we have wandered again from the point, how to care for one of these birds. The simplest care is the best. Put a little white sand in his cage, change it twice a week, at which time give him a cup or a saucer of water to bathe in. Each morning fill his seed cup with canary or rape seed, and in the other cup put some fresh water for him to drink. Hang his cage in a light room, where the heat is between 60° and 70°, sufficiently warm for your own comfort, and if he doesn't pay for his cost and keeping, even in a home where the family lives from hand to mouth, then our opinion isn't worth a cent.

Who ever heard of a canary bird sending anybody to the poor-house? There are persons who will laugh at our enthusiasm, and says we wouldn't have a bird in the house. Very well; when we were boys we always found the sunny side of the building in cold weather. We haven't forgotten it and we like it just as well now as we did then. We candidly believe that the good influence of one such little songster, on the temper and feelings of children,—yes, and adults, too,—has never been fully estimated. Our experience is this: When we feel dull, weary, say or at cross purposes with life and the world, we go home, and sit down and listen to our birds. As a tonic, as a neutralizer, as an inspiration, they never fail. No, nor as comforters. And all the time and trouble one of them costs, in care and attention, will not exceed five minutes a day, on an average, through the year.

ABOUT ESQUIRES.

Esquire generally denoted the attendant or shield bearer of a knight, hence called escuier in French and scuifer or armiger in Latin. The esquire was entitled to wear armor and bear a device on his shield. At one time it was the custom to make esquires by bestowing on them a silver collar of S. S. In the old pamphlet of the "Tanner of Tamworth and King Edward the Fourth," is the following verse:

"A Coller, our king gan e y;
Quoth the Tanner it will breed sorrow;
For after a Coller cometh a halter;
I trow I shall be hanged tomorrow.
Be not afraid, Tanner, said our King,
I tell thee so mought I thee,
Lo here I make thee the best Esquire
That is in the North Countrie."

Under Richard II. we find the name of esquire expressly given as a created and honorary title by patent. In a curious old work, "Title of Honor," the author says, "Now, as in these elder times of military action, such gentlemen as were employed in service receiving their dignity, either at home or abroad, were frequently, it seems, for distinction from the rest, and as by a note of honor, called Esquires (into which title also some were created) so at length, especially in time of peace when military service could make but little distinction, they that by birth or other eminency were commonly thought worthy of some note of distinction above the ordinary rank of Gentlemen, have had the same title given unto them."

Here in New England, among our ancestors, the title of esquire was bestowed on not more than a dozen of the principal gentlemen of the colony. Mr. was also a title which conferred distinction. In a list of a hundred freemen you will not find more than four or five so styled. In the old records occurs the following entry:

John Plaistowe, for stealing four baskets of corn from the Indians is ordered to return them eight baskets, to be fined five rounds, and hereafter to be called by the name of John, and not Mr. as formerly he used to be."

Good man and good wife were formerly common appellations, but now obsolete.

Whittier in the ballad of "Mary Garvin" gives us a glimpse of our ancestors in the—

—"goodly house of worship, where, in order due and fit,
As by public vote directed, classed and ranked the people sit;
Mistress first and good wife after, clerky squire before the clown,
From the brave coat, lace embroidered, to the gray frock, shading down."

For the Sultan.

The "Providence Tool Company," of this city, John B. Anthony, treasurer, who not long since secured from the Turkish government the contract for 600,000 stand of arms, "breech-loaders," of the celebrated "Martini-Henry Rifle" pattern, made under the Peabody patent right, have just finished and placed on exhibition at the Journal office for a few hours today, a superlatively finished rifle of the above named pattern, which is intended for a personal gift to the sultan from the director and treasurer of the Company as an artistic specimen of American, more especially of Rhode Island, and most especially of Providence workmanship and perfection of mechanical beauty.

This splendidly finished rifle is one of the regular contract arms in all its metallic parts, the barrel, bayonet, lock, receiver, &c., with a solid rosewood stock ornamented with check-work. All the metallic parts, except the screw heads and trigger, are gold plated, heavily, and the receiver is very elaborately and artistically engraved on each side with groups of buffalo and deer, surrounded with rich arabesque figures, with the cypher of the sultan in the centre of one side, (styled by a good judge as exquisitely fine work,) by Mr. C. F. Ulrich, in employ of the company; all the tools with the rifle are also gold plated; with the following inscription on the upper side of the barrel near the breech, in plain roman letters, cut beautifully clear and sharp, "Manufactured by the Providence Tool Company, Providence, R. I., U. S. A." The butt plate on the base of the stock is also handsomely checked and gilded, and there is also on the right side of the stock an oval gold plate, with engraved border, for the sultan's name to be inscribed upon. The arm is intended for service as much as ornament, and can be used with the regular fixed ammunition intended for all the rifles made by the company.

The rifle is enclosed in an elegant solid rosewood casket, with gold corners and mountings, and lined with purple velvet, and inside are several small divisions for ammunition and other appurtenances of the rifle. On the top is an oval gold plate, engraved with a laurel wreath border, for an inscription, the whole comprising a superbly rich present. Col. Tevfik Bey, of the Turkish army, agent of the sultan for inspecting the rifles, is highly pleased with this fine present from the Tool Company to his sovereign, and will forward it to its destination, by Adams Express Company, tonight.—[Providence Journal.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1874.

THE DAY.

Great interest seems to be taken at Washington in the Sanborn case. The Secretary of the Treasury has said that he is having all the documents in connection with this legal freebooter hunted up, and will send them to the investigating committee. If the investigation will only go beyond Sanborn and reach those who are responsible for him, some good may be expected.

The very questionable value of expert testimony has been again shown, this time by the commission of engineers appointed by the city of Providence to compare the Corliss engine at the Hope station and the Worthington engine at the Pettaconset station. These experts, after giving the figures to show that the Worthington engine consumed less coal, could pump more water, and ran with less noise and no more trouble or care, made a report in favor of the Corliss engine because that happened to have a automatic regulator which is not peculiar to it, nor is a new invention, but which can be easily attached to its rival engine, and would be if its peculiar work required it.

James Russell Lowell says that the highest aim of civilization is to acquire the ability to be idle elegantly. The large attendance at the justice court this morning proved, according to this, that the civilization of Newport, if not the highest, is yet of an exalted type and is capable of developing up to the most elevated grade. The large crowd of loafers that hung around the court to learn how Mrs. Thurston pulled Mrs. Vars's hair off because Mrs. Vars threw pepper into Mrs. Thurston's eyes, proved that we have among us a considerable number of persons who can be idle, if not elegantly, at least well enough for all practical purposes. If we could only have a court every day, our upper ten loafers would speedily acquire that elegance in their idleness that the professor states characterizes the highest aim of civilized men.

BIRCH BARK.—The birch bark has alliances with the world of sentiment and of letters. The most poetical reputation of the North American Indian floats in a canoe made of it; his picture writing was inscribed on it. It is the paper that nature furnishes for lovers in the wilderness, who are enabled to convey a delicate sentiment by its use, which is expressed neither in their ideas nor chirography. It is inadequate for legal parchment, but does very well for deeds of love, which are not meant usually to give a perfect title. With care, it may be split into sheets as thin as the Chinese paper. It is so beautiful to handle that it is a pity civilization cannot make more use of it. But fancy articles manufactured from it are very much like all ornamental work made of nature's perishable seeds, leaves, cones and dry twigs—exquisite while the pretty fingers are fashioning it, but soon growing shabby and cheap to the eye. And yet there is a pathos in "dried things," whether they are displayed as ornaments in some secluded home or hidden religiously in bureau drawers, where profane eyes cannot see how white ties are growing yellow and ink is fading from treasured letters, amid a faint and discouraging perfume of ancient rose leaves.—[Charles D. Warner.

......Governor Allen, of Ohio, has set a good example to public officials by refusing to accept free passes on railroads.

......The St. Louis Democrat wishes that Senator Bogy would go home and explain to his constituents his late speech in favor of inflation.

......The Portland Press exclaims: "Give us more of Governor Dix and if-any-man-dares-haul-down-the-American-flag-shoot-him-on the spot."

......Mrs. Scott-Siddons has met with great acceptation in her western tour. Her dramatic readings were highly appreciated in St. Louis, where her rendering of "Midsummer Night's Dream" created a decided sensation.

......New Hampshire Republicans are just arousing to the necessity of a more vigorous canvass, and Senators Wadleigh and Cragin have gone home to help them. The Simmons business will be a powerful weapon with the Democrats.

......The Maine newspapers attacked Manley, the candidate for supervisor of revenue in place of Simmons, so severely that the Maine Congressmen withdrew their recommendation of him. One of the objections to Manley is succinctly stated by the Portland Press. "There is not an intelligent man in the state of Maine," it says, "who doesn't know that Manley, in 1861, obtained by some means 251 names of men, and sold them to the towns of this state to fill their quota—names representing no flesh-and-blood men, and which did not swell the ranks of our regiments before Petersburgh by a single man." Another objection is, that Manley is a professional caucus manipulator, and has given out openly that he means to elect the next Maine Senator himself.

......The characteristic story of Parepa is told that once, when asked how she came to marry such a little man as Carl Rosa, who, probably to forestall jesting on the subject, generally good-humoredly alluded himself to their difference in physique, madame, with an arch smile and twinkling eye, demurely said:—

"Now, would you really like to know?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Why, because he asked me!" she replied with a merry laugh.

......The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser remarks that "if anybody in central New York or elsewhere wants to listen to a lecture from one of the most cowardly pirates that the world ever saw, there can be no objection to it, but it notes that these war "animosities" seem to be "dying out" only on one side. Does any one hear, it asks, of any Southern lyceums or associations sending invitations to any of the gallant defenders of the Union and asking them to lecture on any subject they may see fit to choose.

Three cattle dealers have sued the Pennsylvania Railroad at Pittsburg to recover $47,000 for alleged breach of contract. Discrimination against Pittsburg shippers is also alleged.

The Western Canada Oil Company have shut down about fifty of their wells, throwing about seventy five men out of employment. The cause of the suspension is the depressed state of the oil market.

Amasa Stone, Jr., manager of the Lake Shore Railroad, says the railroad men have resolved unanimously not to recognize the strike of the firemen, in case they are foolish enough to make one, and believe the engineers would be unable to hold out long for want of firemen.

It is announced that the Wisconsin senate has passed the Potter bill regulating the tax on railroads in that state, so amended as to be looked upon favorably by the railroad corporations, and that the Assembly passed a bill fixing no tariff of taxation, but leaving the rate with a commission.

It is reported that the Chinese government has notified the foreign ministers at Pekin that it cannot guarantee the safety of the lives of foreigners residing at Tientsin, and that the naval authorities here have been requested to send war vessels to Tientsin to insure their protection.

Despatches from the upper lake ports indicate a universal early opening of navigation. At Marquette and White Fish Point the ice is from fourteen to twenty four inches thick in the harbors. In the Ste. Marie river it is twenty inches thick. The oldest inhabitants expect an early break-up. The ice in the Mackinaw straits is lighter than for many years being only from ten to fourteen inches thick. A week of warm weather will probably clear the straits. There is but very little ice in Lake Huron, and that is very thin.

The struggle between the brewers and the saloon keepers in Chicago has ended in a compromise. The latter were firm in their determination to pay only $10 a barrel but the brewers insisted that they could not manufacture it for that price. They agreed however, to split the difference with the saloon keepers and sell their beer for $11 a barrel until the 1st of May, when they will insist on $12.

S. F. T. P. O. C. T. A.—The general features of Bergh's bill for the better protection of animals, now before the New York legislature, prompt the New York Herald to class that gentleman among those who allow their emotions to get the better of their judgment. Mr. Bergh follows his theory, and is absorbed by it until it becomes a passion, almost a monomania, and when he enters upon it he becomes as rapt in its contemplation and as insensible to more suggestions of common sense as the valiant Don Quixote when he discoursed on chivalry. Whoever commits a cruelty upon an animal, the bill provides, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. In other words, New York butchers and fishermen must abandon their calling or be prepared to go to Blackwell's Island. Then, all Mr. Bergh's agents are to have the powers of sheriffs, with permission to search houses and make arrests and seizures. So that no housewife can plunge a struggling lobster into the pot or arrange a quantity of living oysters for a soup without being in peril from one of Mr. Bergh's sheriffs. Surely it was never intended to give this power to any body of irresponsible men who may wear the badge of his society. No one would seriously object to a visit from Mr. Bergh himself to look after the lobsters, the clams or other suffering dwellers in the kitchen, because he is a gentleman and would be welcome everywhere. But the Herald cannot say so much for those he may employ. Heaven knows, what with policemen, municipal and private detectives, revenue agents, custom house spies, informers, the atmosphere of the metropolis swarms with agents enough without hatching another brood to do the bidding of the president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Sudden Death.

Last evening, about 8 o'clock, Mr. John Roe died suddenly of heart disease, in the ante room of Mount Hope Lodge of Free Masons. Mr. Roe, it seems, has been afflicted for some time with enlargement of the heart, and on his way to the Lodge, in company with a friend, complained of not feeling well. On arriving in the entry, the friend told him to remain there while he ran up stairs to pay his dues, and he would then return and go home with him. He did so, and his friend on returning, found Mr. Roe staggering and coughing. He was immediately carried up stairs, but died on the way. His remains were then conveyed to his residence by members of the lodge.

Deceased resided on the corner of George and Lindsey streets, and has charge of the cloth room at the Mechanics Mills. He was about 49 years of age and leaves a wife and family. We understand he was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Uxbridge, Mass.—[Fall River News of Feb 28.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—City council this evening.

—Overcoats are at a discount.

—Garnier and Ubassy will be here on the sixth instant.

—The boats of the Narragansett Steamship Company now leave New York at 5 P. M.

—Two new cottages were partially raised at Conanicut Park yesterday, and several others are to follow without delay.

—Timothy Murphy was yesterday arrested for drunkenness and had to pay the usual fine and costs, amounting to $8.70.

—Lieut. Commander Morris has been detached from torpedo duty. It is not known at present where he is to be ordered.

—The principal feature of the Sunday school concert at the Unitarian church, Sunday night, was a dialogue or conversation prepared expressly for the occasion. The children performed their parts admirably.

—The Jamestown had a large freight this morning consisting of four oxen, two ox carts, three horses, buggy, wagon, a lot of hogs, and calves and a goodly number of passengers.

—We shall publish in the Newport Journal of tomorrow, a full list of the buildings and improvements made in our neighboring town of Jamestown during the past year. It will be found much more significant than most people have been led to suppose.

—Our venerable townsman, Mr. Sylvester R. Hazard, is celebrating his 83rd birthday. As has been customary with him for a few years he has displayed from his steps an American flag which he had with him in garrison at Fort Greene in 1812. He has been urged to procure a newer and brighter ensign but naturally has a preference for the one made valuable by associations with the past.

—The following persons have been drawn as jurors for the March term of the supreme court, which begins two weeks from today.

—Mr. B. Rooney, a laborer, while engaged in drilling rocks at Fort Adams yesterday, was noticed by his companions to be lying on his side. They immediately went to his assistance and found him paralyzed. He was brought to his home as soon as possible and medical aid summoned but up to this morning he remained in the same condition as yesterday. There is but little hope of his recovery.

—The condition of Commercial wharf has much to do with the comfort and convenience and therefore with the prosperity of the Wickford steamboat line. As the city is a large owner in this line our city fathers should see to it that all which is in our power should be done to make it a success. The matter, it is expected, will be considered this evening. That species of economy which loses ten dollars in the effort to save one is not to be highly commended, though it is practiced and that too professedly in the interest of the tax payers.

A CHANGE.—Capt. Stephen Gardner, of the ferry boat Jamestown, has handed in his resignation, to take effect tonight. Capt. William G. Knowles of Jamestown has been appointed to fill the vacancy and will take command immediately. Capt. Knowles is an experienced man and has been engaged in the coasting business between here and New York several years. Under Capt. Gardner's command the success of the boat has been satisfactory.

CHASE.—For the benefit of the Chases or Chaces in town we take the following from the Taunton Republican: "We learn from Dr. J. B. Chase, the historian of the Chase family, that his record includes the names of over ten thousand persons, all descendants of William, Thomas and Aquila Chase, who came to this country from England in 1630–36. A fortune of $260,000,000 is said to be awaiting these descendants in England."

PRIZE FIGHT.

Sheriff Manchester and a posse of police left here this morning on the revenue cutter Moccasin to go to Dutch Island and break up a prize fight which had been arranged to take place there today for $200 a side. Unless the "mill" ground more rapidly than the mills of the gods are said to, it is supposed that the sheriff has by this time confiscated the bruisers but no reports have yet been received.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Miss Sarah Daly and another girl have been in the habit of sleeping at Fort Adams in a room heated by a base burning stove. Last night they filled the stove with coal and left the top open. The room was closed tightly and filled rapidly with coal gas. This morning Miss Daly, aged nineteen, was found dead and her companion unconscious, but the latter is now recovering.

A SCOUNDREL CAUGHT.—John Wilson who is accused of outraging decency by prowling around at night and making improper exposures, was last night caught by Captain Hammond at a house on the corner of Mann avenue and Kay street. As soon as he found that there was a man on the premises he started off toward Broad street by way of Ayrault street. Captain Hammond ran down Mann avenue and caught the fellow. The latter was quite sure that the captain didn't really want him, to the application of a pair of handcuffs convinced him that his captor was in earnest. He is now in the Station House and will probably be arraigned next Friday. He appears to be about thirty years old.

JUSTICE COURT.

TUESDAY, March 3rd.—The first case this morning was that of Samuel Jackson, a respectable looking colored man who was accused of emulating the example of the ham fat man well known in song, and stealing a ham from Mr. Andrew Bryer. Jackson owned up to it and was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the jail at Providence and the payment of costs.

The principal feature of the session was the case of Mrs. Margaret Vars and the state against Mrs. Thurston for alleged assault and the robbery of a hat, vail and false hair from the head of the plaintiff. Mr. Peckham appeared for the defence and Mr. Gilpin prosecuted. As to the seizure of the hat there seemed to be no question. Mr. Peckham claimed that his client acted under violent provocation, used no violence, and committed either trespass or malicious mischief but not larceny as defined in the law books. The court reserved decision.

AN INTERESTING ELOPEMENT CASE.

The following we clip from an exchange. Some of the parties named belong to a Newport family and are well known to many of our citizens:

Col. Geffroy, mine host of the Gibson House, is not less known for his fine social qualities and for his superb new hotel, says the Cincinnati Commercial, than for his two fair daughters, for he was richer far than Jephtha, whom he loved more than passing well. Both were beautiful, both good, both accomplished; but Miss Lillie, the younger, all society watched with pride as she grew from girlhood to womanhood, the very perfection of beautiful American womanhood. Naturally her proud parents placed within her reach all the means of accomplishment that affection could suggest or that wealth could command. Her last school was at Chicago, where she met at the Gardner House, and was wooed and won by Mr. Edward Burns. The gentleman was from Philadelphia, and was travelling for spice mills there, the largest on the continent. He stood high with his employers, and with every one with whom he came in contact. So highly, indeed, did the spice firm esteem him and his services, that the first of this year he was admitted as a junior partner, insuring him an income of between $10,000 and $15,000 a year. That came too late, as will be seen, to help him in the course of his true love. Meanwhile he was, if not "all that could be desired" for a son-in-law, at least guilty of no fault, except the want of a princely establishment such as Miss Lillie Geffroy was worthy to adorn. So Col. and Mrs. Geffroy accepted the situation and consented to the marriage, perhaps deeming that the affection of their daughter was a school-girl's fancy which would in time wear out. But when the trousseau was ordered and Dec. 5th fixed for the wedding, which was to be a private one at home, Mrs. Geffroy's repugnance to the match grew uncontrollable, and finally the match was peremptorily broken off. The obedient daughter yielded and returned the presents and letters of her lover. She was taken to New York and Philadelphia, where Mr. Burns pleaded vainly for permission to renew his addresses, and where Mrs. Geffroy, after several interviews, finally refused to see him. He went his way, and Mrs. G. and Miss Lillie remained in the East until last week, when they returned to this city. A friend of Burns in Cincinnati went to the theatre one evening recently, and to his astonishment he saw the two Misses Geffroy, accompanied by their mother and a male cousin. He telegraphed to Burns, who hastened to that city, and procured a marriage license from Rev. Mr. Allen G. Fiske, pastor of St. Paul's Church, where the to-be bride worshipped. Just after Lenten prayers were finished at St. Paul's and the congregation had retired, there entered the church from different directions as interesting a wedding party as ever gathered even within its sacred walls. There were a dozen in all in the little group—Miss Ida, the sister of the bride, her cousin and one or two lady friends, the groom, three or four gentlemen friends and the pastor. The setting sun fell upon the chancel, on the bride in her becoming brown semi-travelling suit and the manly groom, as the solemn sentences that joined two lives forever into one were uttered in the ever eloquent words of the Episcopal rite—a translation of those of the earlier church. No man present ever saw a bonnier bride, and the husband of her choice seemed worthy of her.

Great is the bother of getting married when you are a royal highness. Of course the marriage of the sailor prince had to be entered in the register of the Chapel Royal at Windsor, and equally of course the country would go all to pieces and the foundations of the earth rock if that precious register recording the weddings of all the British queens were to be taken to a foreign land. Accordingly Dean Stanly was provided with a single leaf whereon to enter the marriage, which will be bound up in the register when it gets back from Russia. In order to go properly through the ceremony, the dean was likewise obliged to carry with him the blue-velvet-covered prayer book used at the coronation of William IV., and another prayer book which has been used at all the royal English marriages since that of George III., except that of Victoria.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

Five additional indictments have been found against Deputy Tax Collector Gill, of Brooklyn.

The employes of the New York department of public works have subscribed $2000 for the poor.

Ex-President Baez, of San Domingo, was arrested Saturday on charges brought by Davis Hatch, of Norwich, for cruel treatment, and held in $25,000 bail for trial. Baez declines to furnish bail under advice of counsel, and remains in custody at the Brevoort House.

Charles Morton has commenced a suit for $30,000 against Jarrett & Palmer, the lessees of Niblo's Garden Theatre, for the nonfulfilment of the contract to engage an opera bouffe company. The plaintiff, on the contract of Jarrett & Palmer, hired a full company of distinguished artists, secured passages for them from Europe, and lost heavily by the non-fulfilment of the agreement.

Saturday's Tribune printed a table containing details of the seizures made in this port and Boston by Informer Jayne, together with the amounts in each received by him. The Tribune says that Jayne sometimes turned into the government a smaller sum than he received; in the settlement of his profits in this way they are of course incalculable. It is generally understood that there is to be deducted from his profits 8 per cent., which it is currently reported he pays to his Congressional partner as a retainer. Jayne had almost a monopoly of the business of seizing imported books, and hunting through them for technical frauds on the revenue. He left to others the unprofitable but legitimate business of capturing, smuggling and perjuring contraband goods on steamers, and devoted himself almost exclusively to the bribing of clerks to betray their masters, alter their books or make fraudulent entries at custom houses an excuse for seizing their books. Although he was the informer in a few dozen cases out of 3500 seizures reported, it will be found that Jayne's share was the lion's and that he received as informer $290,167 77.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Senator Chandler gave an elegant entertainment Saturday night in honor of Chief Justice Waite. The gentlemen's party was attended by President Grant, members of the Cabinet, Senators of both political parties and a large number of persons distinguished in political and social life.

The superintendent of the national park says, in a communication to Secretary Delano, that $100,000 will be necessary to render the park and its various wonders accessible, to preserve its numberless curiosities from spoliation, and a complete survey of its boundaries.

The published statement that the Senate committee on transportation routes to the seaboard had agreed to report that although Congress had constitutional power to regulate railroad tariffs, it is not now expedient to exercise that power, is pronounced by the chairman, Senator Windom, wholly unauthorized. The committee has come to no such conclusion.

It is stated at the Treasury Department that the prevalent idea that the government has refunded several millions of dollars for duties collected on fruits, decided to be in the free list, is a mistake. The whole amount paid back is $70,600, and the whole amount now claimed as due and unpaid is $37,282; and for this sum suits had to be brought, and were pending in the courts when the decision was made.

In the House of Representatives, Saturday, Mr. Hyde, of Missouri, from the committee on elections, made a report in the Georgia contested election case that Mr. Rawls, the sitting member, is not entitled to the seat, and that Mr. Sloan, the contestant, is. Mr. Banning presented a petition of the archbishop of Cincinnati, Gov. Noyes and others, of Ohio, for the release of Edward Condon, of Cincinnati, the last American Fenian detained in prison in England. The House went into committee of the whole on the President's message after a long struggle to get the bills on the private calendar before the House. Several speeches were read, and the House, at 5 o'clock adjourned.

An effort is being made to have an investigation by Congress into the affairs of the Soldiers' Home in the District. It is charged that the institution is generally mismanaged; that unwholesome food is provided for the inmates; that the funds of the concern are improperly used; that, although the law prohibits the payment of pensions to any person other than the pensioner, the treasurer of the home takes the pension from pensioners as soon as they enter the Home and the poor old veterans are afraid to go into the hospital of the institution because they are told by the surgeon in charge that they do not come to be cured but to die and get a decent funeral.

The sub-committee who are investigating the Durell case say they do not expect to summon Caleb Cushing in the matter of the testimony of Mrs. Gen. Gaines, implicating Cushing and Durell in an effort to extort money from her to procure a favorable decision from Durell in some of her law-suits for the recovery of property in New Orleans. The committee say that if Durell wishes to have Cushing summoned to disprove the charges it shall be done, but unless Durell does wish it, and if he submits no rebutting evidence, they will accept the testimony of Mrs. Gaines as conclusive of the facts to which it has direct reference. They expect tomorrow to summon one Siener, a New York lawyer, to testify with regard to the bankruptcy matters.

The new ten cent fractional currency note is now in pretty general circulation and instalments of them have been sent to the several assistant treasurers and government depositaries. The new twenty-five cent note, also of new design, but, unlike the ten cent note, no larger than the issue now in circulation, will be ready for issue in the course of a few days. These are the first notes on which the entire work of printing and engraving was done in Washington. As usual the faces of the notes were executed at the engraving and printing bureau of the Treasury Department. The backs were engraved and printed by the Columbia Bank Note Company of Washington, instead of at establishments in New York or Philadelphia as heretofore.

The Cant of Impostors.

It is so obvious that physical and constitutional vigor is the best defense against disease that even the venders of drastic purgatives advertise them as tonics, stomachics and invigorants, in the hope of enlisting the confidence of the public in the devitalizing and pernicious potions. It is amusing to note how these impostors imitate and copy the language in which the medicinal properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are described. Although the effect of their rasping evacuants is to destroy the tone of digestive organs and the bowels, and to rob the system of its vital strength, they are unscrupulously recommended to the weak and prostrate victims of disease as stimulants! It is time this humbug (not a very successful one it is true, thanks to the mature common sense of the American people) was stigmatized as it deserves. Such mischievous falsehoods should be exposed pro bono publico. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, be it distinctly understood, is a stimulant. It has a spirituous basis, and that basis is the vehicle which diffuses its wonderful sanitary principles through every part of the system. The tonic, alterative and regulating ingredients of the Bitters would be comparatively inert if they were not, so to speak, carried to the localities where they are required by the stimulating agent. The cant which protests against the use of a pure alcoholic fluid, when employed as a means of giving full effect to medicinal extracts of the highest utility, is the cant of charlatanism. Every intelligent physician so characterizes it, and the sick who are griped, convulsed and debilitated by the nauseous and disgusting nostrums of the parties who put it forth, soon find to their sorrow that it is a delusion and a snare. Hostetter's Bitters, the great sanitary stimulant of the age, is, in the truest sense of the words, a wholesome, vitalizing, renovating preparation.

PATENT
PARABOLA SPECTACLES.
Constructed in accordance with the Philosophy of Nature.

ADMIRABLY ADAPTED TO THE ORGANS OF SIGHT, AND AFFORDING ALTOGETHER THE BEST ARTIFICIAL

Help to the Human Vision.

The Parabola Glasses can be used for the greatest length of time, either by day or night, with perfect ease, (when selected to suit the state of the eyes) and never cause that giddiness of the head, or unpleasant sensation to the eyes that many experience from using the common kind, but tend to strengthen and improve the sight.

[From the Rev. Thomas Potter, Norwich Conn.]
Having used a pair of the Parabola Spectacles, I am fully persuaded of their superiority over every other kind, and am confident that the best recommendations are impartial trials. THOMAS POTTER.

[From the Hon. Isaac Hill, late Governor of New Hampshire.]
I have used the Parabola Spectacles for the last three years; and with eyes prematurely injured by severe catarrh for more than forty years, I find them unsurpassed, especially in night reading. ISAAC HILL.

[From M. G. Kerr, M. D., Norristown, Pa.]
I do most willingly bear my testimony in favor of the superiority of the Patent Parabola over all other kinds of Spectacles. They are constructed upon the best established and understood principles of Optics, and their adaptation to the human Eye in its different conditions of vision is so perfect as to render sight easy without effort. In my opinion, none others should be used, since the Eyes once used to these do not seem to grow old, and by having a focus at any point of the surface they appear to restore the eyes to their youthful energy. M. G. KERR, M. D.

[From Isaac Heister, M. D., Reading, Pa.]
I have for several years worn the Patent Parabola Spectacles, and have found them decidedly superior to the Spectacle glasses heretofore in use.
ISAAC HEISTER, M. D.

☞Should the focus of these Glasses, after making trial of them, be found not adapted to the sight, purchasers are particularly requested to have them changed until suited.

Newport Daily News.

TUESDAY, MARCH, 3, 1874.

GENERAL NEWS.

NEW YORK.

Adirondack Park.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A bill introduced in our State Legislature to form a public park in the Adirondacks is expected to pass this week, as a large majority of members are in favor of it. It provides for a board of commissioners, consisting of such names as Horatio Seymour, Verplanck Colvin, Robert B. Roosevelt, etc., and it contemplates taking into the area of the park all the lands owned by the state lying within seven counties. The commissioners are to act without compensation, but five park keepers are to be appointed, at a moderate salary, with power to summon a posse from the nearest settlement to aid in the execution of any arrest that may happen in the forests.

Another Strike.

According to a special Cleveland telegram the scheme for an immediate general strike among the locomotive engineers throughout the country has been defeated, although trouble is still imminent. It appears, however, a parley with the railroad authorities will precede the strike. Efforts have been made to persuade the master machinists on the leading roads to suspend work, and serious complications are apprehended.

Postal Telegraph.

According to special Washington telegraphs postal telegraphy survives its various defeats in Congress. What is known as the Hubbard scheme has been worked over in the Senate committee on post offices, and is to be reported soon. The bill varies in some respects from the present scheme, but its essential features remain unchanged. It is in substance a proposition to establish a postal telegraph company which may contract with the government for the delivery of messages sent through the post office, and the Postmaster General is charged with the duty of establishing telegraph stations.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Reopening of the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Supreme Court resumed its session today, after a month's recess, during which a large number of opinions have been prepared. The delivery of them commenced at noon. The court-room was crowded with attorneys and others, some expecting the Chief Justice to be sworn in, and take his seat, but this ceremony will not probably take place until Wednesday.

Probabilities.

WAR DEP'T., OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3, 1 A. M.

During Tuesday, for the Southern States east of the Mississippi, clear or partly cloudy weather, high temperature and light to fresh southeast to southwest winds will prevail, except, possibly light rain in the lower Mississippi valley for the Middle and Eastern States, partly cloudy weather, higher temperature than on Monday and southerly winds.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AWFUL RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.

Eight Persons Burned or Suffocated.

MONTREAL, March 2.—A fearful accident occurred on the Great Western Railroad, Saturday night. The Sarnia accommodation which left London at 6:30 P. M., consisted of empty cattle cars, baggage, and 2d class, and a coach. When seven miles west of London, the coach took fire in the saloon at the forward end, supposed by the falling of a lamp. The fire was not discovered until the interior of the saloon was completely filled with flames which spread through the coach almost instantly. The passengers were compelled to jump from the rear platform and through the windows. The train was stopped as quickly as possible; but before they could be extricated, eight persons were fatally suffocated and burned. Those identified were Miss Harriet Dunn, of Komoka; Miss Purvis, of Petrolia; Master Burnham of Petrolia; McKeller, school teacher, of Strathcay; Annie Scorlloff Child, Komoka, and an Indian woman and infant.

BOILER EXPLOSION HORROR.

Twenty Persons Instantly Killed.

LONDON, March 2.—A boiler explosion at Blackburn, Lancashire, instantly killed twenty persons and seriously injured thirty more.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION AT PROVIDENCE.

MONDAY, March, 2.

Senate.

The senate met pursuant to adjournment, Lieut. Gov. Van Zandt in the chair.

The bill for an act to amend title XIX., chapter 145: "Of Railroad Corporations," was taken from the table. This bill provides that all passenger cars shall have two axes and a fire extinguisher, stoves so as to remain in place when cars are overturned, stove doors under lock and key, and shall use nothing but gas or candles for lighting purposes. It further provides that all railroad bridges shall be at least 18 feet 6 inches high in the clear above the track.

The bill was then referred to the committee on corporations.

Mr. Powel presented a petition for an act to incorporate the St. John's Mutual Beneficial Association of Newport. Referred to the committee on education.

A message was received from the house with the following business:

Petition of John O. Cranston and others, for authority to erect a bridge over an arm of Salt Water Cove, in South Kingstown. Referred to committee on the judiciary.

Mr. Potter, from the committee on engrossed bills, returned as rightly and truly engrossed the acts incorporating the Grand Division Sons of Temperance, and the Rhode Island Temperance Union; which were both passed in concurrence as so engrossed.

Mr. Verry introduced an act amending title IX, chapter 44, of the statutes, providing that the school commissioner shall be elected annually by the General Assembly in grand committee at its May session.

On motion of Mr. Saunders, of Scituate, the rules were suspended, the act passed and ordered communicated to the house forthwith.

A number of gentlemen disclaimed any desire to hurry the public business, and so the vote was reconsidered and the bill referred to the committee on education.

Mr. Carrey moved that the morning hour for meeting be fixed at half past ten instead of eleven, and it was so voted.

Adjourned to Tuesday morning at half past ten o'clock.

The house met at 11 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Metcalf in the chair.

(From the Senate.)

Petition of Enoch G. Sweet and others, for leave to remove certain dead bodies from the Baptist cemetery in Woonsocket.

As the petition was reported back in the senate by a joint committee, Mr. Thomas, of North Kingstown, a member of that committee on the part of the house explained the details of the matter. The cemetery had become a public nuisance, as was reported to the committee, and it seemed to be the desire of the inhabitants of the town so far as heard from, to have the nuisance abated.

Mr. Dixon, for the judiciary committee, hoped that it would, if referred at all, be sent back to the joint special committee.

Mr. Hill withdrew his motion, and the motion of Mr. Dixon prevailed.

Mr. Adams of Lincoln, from the committee on finance, reported in favor of the resolution authorizing the appointment of a janitor for the State House at Newport, with a provision that the annual compensation shall not exceed $900. Passed.

Mr. Cooke of Providence, from the committee on engrossed bills, reported as properly engrossed the act to incorporate the Sackett & Davis Manufacturing Co., and the same was passed by the house.

No further business appearing, the house adjourned.

ANOTHER HEARING ON THE PROPOSED MILITIA BILL.

The joint special committee on the new militia bill, held another meeting in the hall of the House of Representatives at one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Frederick A. Pratt of Newport, said that there had frequently been attempts to re-organize the militia, but they had previously resulted in little advantage to the state. Now, however, it is proposed to make a radical change, not for the purpose of saving money to the state, but to benefit a few organizations. It is said that the new bill will cut down the number of the militia one-half, but it would really reduce the number by only about 80 men. Again, that the force would be more efficient, whereas it wipes out the cavalry altogether, and gives 7 less companies than at present. Again that the expense will be reduced one-half. The general treasurer's report gives the expense of the militia for the past six years at $18,172 per year. Under the new bill the companies will receive $13,068 per year for services, and $800 must be allowed for horses and drivers of artillery. The rent of armories is now $3,140 per year. It will be under the new bill $3,000 per year. Then add $50,000 for uniforms, or $10,000 per year and the expense is:

Annual expense under the new law,	$26,868
Annual expense under the old law,	21,312
Expense by new law over old law,	$5,556

The special appropriations, during the past Six years, of $30,731,95 is offset by the $30,000 that will be required for another new uniform.

Mr. Pratt continued his remarks at some length, saying that he was decidedly in favor of retrenchment, but believes the law is well as it is, and that the best way to satisfy the people will be to let the law remain unchanged as it is, and stick to it that no special appropriations shall be made for the next three years.

Henry E. Turner, Jr. of Newport, appeared in behalf of the Newport Artillery Veteran Association, and read a paper prepared by Dr. Henry E. Turner, the committee appointed to prepare a statement, by the association.

The writer would not discuss the question of the power of the assembly to abrogate so old and well kept a contract, for one hundred and thirty three years in successful operation, without pretense of any dereliction from its requirements—but he would take issue with the framers and abetters of the law, in regard to its expediency and propriety. The invariable loyalty of the company had never been questioned, and was shown through a long series of events detailed in the statement. The company make no claim to consideration on the ground of antiquity, but on that of a long life without stain on its escutcheon; that it has always been able and willing to make effective response when called upon, that it has never been in so good a condition as at the present time, and that it is entwined closely around the hearts of the entire community in which it is located.

Mr. Charles E. Gorman appeared to offer amendments, but yielded the floor to General Burdick of Newport, who said that the companies of the militia were now in a high condition, and working well, but that this mess was raised every year by a few companies, who were dissatisfied with the system. He could speak for the First brigade and would offer a few figures in the matter of economy to the state. The cost of the First brigade, consisting of three hundred men, for five years past, under the present law, is $7,500. The cost of uniforming this number of men according to the proposed new law is:

300 uniforms at $30 apiece,	$ 900
Pay of 300 men for 1 year at $6 per man,	1,800
Sum,	$10,800

being so much clear gain to the state by the present system, over the cost of organizing a new force of 300 men for one year. In conclusion he would say that the four companies which he represented desired to keep the law as it now exists.—[Providence Star.

DISRAELI.

Personal descriptions and reminiscences of the new prime minister of England are now in order. He is a tall and rather broad-shouldered man—though not of stout build—with a slight stoop of a very sphinx-like head, which is surrounded by dark and elf-like locks: a sallow complexion and a dreamy expression; a long and shaven upper lip, closely-shaven whiskers, and an imperial. His walk is more like that of a dancing master than of a genuine John Bull, his toes doing much more work than his heels. A hearty, joyous laugh from him would seem to be impossible: but there is frequently a sardonic smile upon the face of this master of irony. Although in his sixty-ninth year, Disraeli shows no signs of senility, and could wear out many a much younger man in hours of oratorical effort, or in watching the interests of the party he presides over. Very different was he at the age of twenty, when his novel of "Vivian Grey" made him the fashionable lion of the hour. His ringlets of silken black hair, his flashing eyes, his effeminate and lisping voice, his dress-coat of black velvet lined with white satin; his white kid gloves, with his wrists surrounded by a long, lunzing fringe of black silk, and his ivory cane, of which the handle, inlaid with gold, was relieved by more black silk in the shape of a tassel. Every one laughed at him for being affected; but the women declared that his was an affectation of the best style, and they felt his personal vanity was a flattering homage to their most notorious weakness. Such was the perfumed boy exquisite who forced his way into the saloons of peeresses. Men held him in light esteem, but observant women, who, as a rule, are more discerning judges of young men than themselves, prophesied that he would live to be a great man.

COLOR IN MORALS.

"How pretty the styles are this year!" said a lady to a dry goods clerk the other day. She was speaking in reference to the new spring prints, cambries, and percales which lay upon the counter and filled the great plate-glass windows.

"Yes'm," returned the clerk, "they are beautiful charming."

Now, really and truly, I do not believe he thought so at all. There was nothing to strike the eye of a man of a rather ignorant, conceited man too—who was fidgeting about his necktie, and on tender-hooks evidently for fear of losing his dinner. But it was his business to fall in with the humors of his customers, and if he thought there's no accounting for tastes he did not express it.

In a half-abstracted way, as if more talking to herself than to him, the lady went on: "I am so glad there are no great flaring patterns and many-colored chintzes. Such designs are immoral; they have a bad influence, and they ought to be put under a prohibitory law as much as intoxicating liquors."

The clerk looked at her bewildered, as if he did not at all know what she meant, and somewhat doubted her sanity. The look recalled the lady to herself; that is, to that mechanical part of herself which was engaged in purchasing a spring print. She smiled, made her selection, and departed.

For my own part, I made up my mind that she was right. An extravagant use of color is bad, immoral, dangerous. It starts a quick desire, which is as suddenly satiated. Singly a many-colored garment attracts the eye; in the mass they become displeasing and rancorous.

Did the reader never observe a toilet, a carpet, or the general effect of a room where something produced a feeling of irritation, a desire to knock it down or take it to pieces or get rid of it in some way or other? This is nearly always the effect of too much or a bad mixture of color. Summer colors in dress should always be cool, soft, neutral, to relieve the warmth and glow of vegetation and atmosphere.

Nature introduces color sparingly; the body part or groundwork of her pictures is always gray or brown. The light suffuses, the color illuminates, but does not overpower us.—[N. Y. Graphic.

TUESDAY, MARCH, 3, 1874.

LICE ON CATTLE.—One of the troubles of keeping stock is the vermin that oftentimes infest them. And what makes this trouble worse is the fact that they are more abundant on lean cattle than on fat ones, and as cattle grow poorer, the more abundant the vermin become. Some have an idea that fat cattle will not be infested at all with lice, but this is a mistake. If you put fat cattle into a lousy barn, that is, into a barn where lousy cattle have been kept, the lice will get upon them; for the vermin will live a long time on the stantials and around the mangers. These vermin infest cattle more while they are housed than when they run out in the Summer, and it requires much more care and attention to destroy them. Various expedients are resorted to for this purpose. The first step to take is to whitewash the place with caustic lime, put on boiling hot, which is death to lice. The second move to make is to apply strong brine to the animal on every part or a wash made with diluted carbolic acid or carbolic soap. Oil, or grease of any kind, will kill lice whenever it touches them.

A wash made of tobacco boiled in water, will kill them, but caution should be used in its application for if too strong it will injure the cattle.

USE OF COAL ASHES.—The following note is from a well-known horticultural dealer:

"Mr Editor: I am very much pleased to see in the Transcript's Garden and Farm Department that you have placed the article of coal ashes (anthracite) as a fertilizer before your readers, for I have long recommended our customers to use all they had on their garden soils. I never found anything so useful in growing bulbs, small seed, vegetables, etc. They never suffer from drought or from worms in the soil, where the ashes are well mixed. They seem to vitalize the earth, and quicken all dormant action, like yeast with flour. D, T. C."

Fire! Fire! Fire!

Make Sure

Against losses by fire by insuring in first class companies, and such as are fully able to meet their liabilities. The time has gone by when "one Policy is as good as another." Consider the following facts:—

THE ÆTNA, of Hartford,

$39,000,000,

The Insurance Company of North America

is the Oldest Stock Company in the United States. It has Assets of $3,276,739, and has paid Losses to the amount of

The Royal, of Liverpool,

has Assets amounting to

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of many years, having within that time treated over nine thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my most matured appreciation of its value, based upon actual and witnessed realities. As a close observer, I have while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will at all times and under all circumstances act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who employs it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on the return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures—as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to woman not mentioned here, in which, as well as in the cases which I have mentioned, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm in any state or condition. It is A MOST POWERFUL RESTORATIVE TONIC to the general as well as the sexual system, also combining the most valuable nervine properties. Both the muscular and nervous forces are strengthened and built up by its use. It will be found invaluable in diseases incident to pregnancy, and can be taken in moderate doses with perfect safety while in that state. Indeed, it is a Mother's Cordial, and so prepares the system for parturition that it renders child-labor easy. I have received the heartfelt praise from hundreds of mothers for the inestimable benefits thus conferred.

I offer my Favorite Prescription to the Ladies of America with the sincerity of an honest heart, and for their best welfare. Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in my TREATISE ON CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE GENERATIVE AND URINARY ORGANS, sent secure from observation upon receipt of two postage stamps. It treats minutely on those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to their management.
